Insurance on Wheat Reaches New High

A record number of crop insurance contracts—420,077—has been written as protection on the 1941 wheat crop in 36 states, according to Leroy K. Smith, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation.

This number exceeded by 41,917 the 378,160 contracts written on both winter and spring wheat last year. The 1941 contracts guarantee growers a total production of 110,591,202 bushels of wheat from 10,946,284 insured acres.

"This is the third successive year that the federal crop insurance program has shown consistent gains in the number of contracts guaranteeing wheat growers protection from all unavoidable hazards," the manager said.

Cafe for Parasites

A drug called phenothiazine will aid the farmer in ridding horses, cattle, swine and other domestic animals of internal parasites, according to Carrol E. Howell, manager of the University of California's W. K. Kellogg institute of animal husbandry.

It was found that the treatment completely eliminated stomach worms in 37 of the animals and was from 78 to 95 per cent effective in the other eight.

Protein Supplement Helps Beef Cattle Gain Finish

Sam L. Williams, assistant extension animal husbandman of N. C. State College, has an answer to the question: "Can beef be produced without a protein supplement?"

This is what he has been telling beef cattle feeders and feeders who have asked the question in recent weeks: "In my opinion it can be done, but it is neither practical nor profitable."

Then he goes on to explain that the important thing to the cattle producer is how much weight and finish he can put on his cattle and how long it will require. Efficient production is essential to greatest profit in any business, and this is especially true in the cattle business.

Some of the more common protein supplements are cottonseed meal, soybean meal, linseed meal, and corn gluten meal. All of these are about equal in feeding value.

Williams explained that the economy of feeding a protein supplement lies in the fact that such feeds are responsible for more efficient utilization of feed, larger gains, higher finish, and a greater selling price.

Short Wide Prints Now In Summer Fashion Picture

It is the white-ground prints that have the coveted "new" look. The black-and-white combination is especially smart. Wear with these black-and-whites one of the very voguish large Milan hats, carry a patent bag matched with pumps, splash a dash of red or yellow in gloves and your boutonniere—the sum total will be "style."

Blue on white is also new and the prints that predominate in yellow on white are exceedingly chic.

Handknit Apparel Enjoys Increase in Popularity

There is a large demand for handknit apparel. Even the machine knits have been brought to such a point of perfection that they have the handknit look. Dresses are so expertly fashioned that they do not miss any of the styling details that give distinction to fabric treatments.

Sweaters and cardigans abound in unique trimmings, such as wool yarn fringe, dangling tassels, embroideries and knitted skirts are now made with pleats or gores.

Low-Cut Necklines Call For Bra to Match Dress

Necklines are on their way down and down, almost to the waistline. With this type of dress, comes a bra to match. You can fasten the open point high or low, as you wish. The latest blouses have open-throat collared necklines that may be adjusted at will.

Brims Large, Small

It's a far cry from the tiny little flower topknots milliners are pleased to call hats to the wide, wider, widest brims that are forecast for wear with summer frocks. A properly equipped wardrobe of headgear should include both. The cunning flower hats have captured women's fancy to the extent that they will continue in the picture for a long time to come, but from now on they must share honors with the stunning big poke-shape brims, Mexican gaucho felts and the face-framing "covered wagon" types.

English Mother of 19 Adds Orphan to Family

BRISTOL, ENGLAND.—Mrs. Rosina Checketts, 53, a widow of Bishop St. Bristoll, in addition to having a family of 19, going out to work in the day and being an air raid warden at night, has adopted an orphan, which brings her family to 20, ranging in age from 33 to 9.

Only eight of the family now live at home, but there are 13 grandchildren in nearby houses. The newcomer is an orphan boy.

UNIVERSALLY POPULAR

"The Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.

It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.

In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Blanch Caldwell

Mrs. Jeanette Blanche Furbush Caldwell, who passed away at her home here last Sunday morning, was a daughter of the late Robert Austin Caldwell. She was born in Appomattox county, the youngest child of Matilda Jane Chesthan and David Jefferson Furbush. Both her husband and father were soldiers in the Confederacy, her father having been killed in action when she was only a small child. Mrs. Caldwell spent most of her married life on a farm near Appomattox, but in 1931 she moved with her husband and unmarried daughter to occupy a home Mr. Caldwell had purchased in the town of Appomattox. Mr. Caldwell lived eight years after leaving the farm, and was a familiar and popular figure in his Confederate uniform, which he always wore on Memorial days. Mrs. Caldwell was the last survivor of her family. However, she leaves the following grandchildren: her daughter, Ella, and sons, Leonard and Thomas Jefferson, having preceded her to the grave many years ago; Mrs. Mary Willie Mae Jones, Mrs. Janie Caldwell, Mesdames Clarence O. McCray, William D. Marshall, Eddie M. Schaubach, Lewis B. Winters, and four grandchildren: Robert Edwin McCray, Eddie Schaubach, Jr., Alice Joy Schaubach, and John Forrest Marshall.

Mrs. Caldwell was many years a faithful, devoted member of Liberty Baptist church and her funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Frederick Jones, assisted by Rev. Handley, pastor of the Crewe Baptist church, at two o'clock, Tuesday afternoon at the church. A double quartet rendered two selections: 'Rock of Ages' and 'No Night There.' The active pallbearers were Mr. and Mr. Caldwell's nephews, Mr. Charles Whitaker, Lynch-burg; Jack, Hubert, Thomas and William Caldwell and Mr. Hunter Timms. The Lee Cannon and Emma Bancock Circle of the Liberty Baptist church Woman's Missionary Society, of which she was a member, carried the flowers. Interment was made in the family burying ground near Appomattox.

The children rise up and call her blessed.' She was a kind neighbor and friend, ministering to the sick and performing other acts of mercy and love. Her Christian life was characterized by the beautiful spirit of patience and humility which impressed those with whom she came in contact.

'Think of her . . . Stepping on shore, and finding it Heaven;
Of taking hold of a hand, and finding it God's hand;
Of breathing new air, and finding it Celestial air;
Of feeling invigorated, and finding it immortality;
Of passing from storm and tempest, to an unknown calm;
Of waking, and finding it Heaven,"

—Her Daughters.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express in this manner our sincere appreciation for the words and deeds of sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our beloved mother, Mrs. J. Blanche Caldwell; also for the flowers and use of cars.

—Her Daughters.

Altavista Dropped Local Ball Team From League Lead

Back in second place again in the Skyline league, after climbing to first place with the second straight victory of the season over Buena Vista's powerful Volunteers, Saturday, the Appomattox baseball team goes to Brookneal for a game this Saturday, and returns here to meet Big Island Sunday afternoon.

With Louie Ciola pitching splendid ball, Appomattox took the measure of Buena Vista there Saturday, to repeat its earlier win against the Volunteers here. The game was one of the best played in the league this year. Appomattox had one big inning, scoring four runs and driving Buena Vista's Doug Stacome from the mound.

Sunday Appomattox was soundly defeated, 9 to 2, in a complete reversal of form at Altavista.

Going outside the Skyline league, Appomattox took the measure of Blackstone team, there, Monday night, 4 to 0. Spence Garbee was in top form for Appomattox and gave up only three safeties.

The current league standing now finds Appomattox just where it was last week this time, one-half a game behind Buena Vista.

Manager John C. Caldwell today announced that he had signed Jim Vasser, stay V. P. I. pitcher, to add strength to the local able but small hurling staff. Vasser pitched last year for Brookneal, and held victories over some of the top Skyline teams, including Buena Vista.

VIRGINIA'A 1942 WHEAT ALLOTMENT ANNOUNCED

Over-Production Said To Be A Waste of Our Soil Resources

Virginia's 1942 wheat acreage allotment under the farm program will be 469,278 acres, according to an announcement from the Department of Agriculture stating that the 1942 national acreage allotment will be 55 million acres.

The national allotment was reduced seven million acres under the 1941 allotment as a part of the national wheat program designed to aid farmers in meeting the problems of export losses and mounting surpluses, says S. R. Cassell, state AAA executive officer. State allotments represent an apportionment of the national allotment on the basis of each state's wheat acreage during the last ten years.

With enough wheat in sight in America to last nearly two years, it is to the advantage of wheat farmers not to waste their soil in needless overproduction, and to manage well the reserves on hand. Acreage allotments, marketing quotas and other features of the farm program provide for orderly management of farm supplies, say Department officials. The allotment is adjusted each year to provide enough wheat for normal domestic consumption, normal exports, and a 30 per cent reserve. The 55 million acre allotment for 1942, which is the minimum acreage permissible under the law, is above the level necessary to provide for these outlets, and officials point out that above-normal reserves may continue for at least two or three years.

The Department emphasizes that the smaller allotment for 1942 in no way implies a retreat by the United States from the world wheat market. Our fight for a fair share of the world market continues, and after the war will go forward with renewed vigor. We now have and will continue to have plenty of wheat from which to draw in meeting any domestic or world situation that may arise for some time to come.

Through the farm program, farmers are now demonstrating their ability to adjust production upward or downward according to the need. Wheat, cotton, tobacco and peanut farmers are adjusting production downward to meet more limited demands, and they can later be as easily expanded upward to meet increasing demands, if they occur, it is pointed out. At the same time, the program is encouraging expansion of certain foods needed in the defense of the Democracies, such as pork, dairy and poultry products, and processed vegetables.

Call For 75 Volunteers for Aircraft Posts

At a meeting at the Court House here Tuesday night, a volunteer organization was set up for Appomattox county for the Virginia Aircraft Warning Service, and as a result of the meeting an appeal is made for seventy-five volunteers to sign-up to form the personnel at five listening posts in the county.

Don Moses, member of the regional defense council, was chairman of the meeting. He announces the following as community listening post organizers:

Pamplin, R. S. Baldwin
Appomattox, P. M. Burton
Vera, W. W. O'Brien
Spout Spring, W. H. Robertson
Evergreen, George D. Coleman.

These community organizers will need fifteen volunteers each and request that volunteers enroll with them immediately, as the complete set-up in Virginia is required by June 15th.

Although no immediate need for actual daily use of the aircraft spotting posts is anticipated, it is the desire of the government to have the detailed organization set-up and trained in duties now, so that Virginia will be ready for any emergency. Your community organizer, listed above, will give you complete information.

The tendency of modern readers is to seek something that fortifies their opinion, rather than something that challenges their thought.

On November 4, 1940, the Parent-Teacher Association of the Appomattox high school took over the lunch room in the school and secured the services of Mrs. Carolyn Babcock Cates as manager. Prior to this the cafeteria had been run by government funds for the purpose of supplying hot lunches to children who had special need of this service.

It is interesting to note the facts concerning this new venture of the Parent-Teacher Association in the community. Mrs. Cates gives the following report: From November 4, 1940, to June 5, 1941, she took in $2,575.54 and disbursed $2,429.91, which included a $30 note made before she became the manager, $30 in payment for screens, $10 for other equipment, and her own salary and reports a net profit of $445.63.

Mrs. Cates installed a counter at which the pupils of the school could purchase school supplies as well as bakery products, confections, etc. This proved to be of excellent financial aid to the Association.

During the term above mentioned 23,500 lunches were served at a very low rate to the pupils who were able to buy them, and 9,248 free lunches were furnished.

Mrs. Cates, the efficient manager, had among her assistants, Mrs. Jennie Johnson and Mrs. Mary Turner. Miss Helen West assisted at the counter. The Parent-Teacher Association voiced its appreciation of the splendid results achieved in the seven months. It may be added, that although Mrs. Cates' salary was paid by the Parent-Teacher Association, that of the assistents was furnished by the government.

N. Y. A. girls assisting in relays with the cafeteria included: Florence Wooten, Mary Mann, Josephine Wright, Nellie Duire, Egna Engle, and Thelma Smith.

GOD BLESS AMERICA

United States Defense Bonds

This bank has qualified for the sale of Series E. Defense Bonds and has in stock these bonds in denominations $25.00, $50.00, $100.00 and up

We believe your liberty, bought at great sacrifice, is in danger and that it is your patriotic duty to buy these bonds.

It is not asking much to buy an interest bearing bond to help your country . . . but our boys are going to training camp. Won't you back them and furnish the money to help them as they give themselves preparing to protect you?
